

Proceedings of the 2009 ICICTE

9-11 July

Corfu, Greece

Table of Contents

Keynote Address

A Life beyond the Golden Arches

Dr Simon Shurville

pp. 1–11

Session 1: Teachers' Professional Development

Technology-enhanced Teachers' Professional Development: Study of Four Cases in China

Jianli Jiao, Xiaodong Wang, and Dan Qin

pp. 12–22

Technology-enhanced Teachers' Professional Development: A Literature Review in China

Jianli Jiao, Xiaodong Wang, and Yimin Jia

pp. 23–34

Technology Enhanced Teacher Professional Development — Four Cases in Sweden for Teachers' Professional Development and the Use of ICT

Ola Lindberg and Limin Gu

pp. 35–43

Implementing ICT in Education — More Than Building the Infrastructure?

Limin Gu and Ola Lindberg

pp. 44–55

Session 2: Applications of ICT to Medicine

Utilizing a Learning Management System in a Blended Learning Design to Enhance Self-regulated Learning Strategies in a Baccalaureate Nursing Fundamentals Course

Sharon Bratt, Irene Coulson, and Sandra Kostashuk

pp. 56–66

Pheromone Therapy: Design for Learning Online

Sue Watling

pp. 67–77

Using E-learning to Improve Prescribing Practice in Emerging Prescribers

Karen Baskett and Meg Stuart

pp. 78–89

Integrating Computer Simulation Training into Medical Curriculum — A Quick and Basic Approach

Lars-Olof Häll, Tor Söderström, Jan Ahlqvist, and Tore Nilsson
pp. 90–98

Evaluation of Mobile Authoring and Tutoring in Medical Issues

Efthymios Alepis and Maria Virvou
pp. 99–109

Session 3: New Technologies in Business Education

Quality Assurance of Transnational Virtual Higher Education: Lessons Learned from a Business Studies Program Delivered in Sub-Saharan Africa

Martijntje M. Kulski and Victor Egan
pp. 110–120

The Implementation of New Technologies in Education: Teaching Economics in Post-Secondary Level

Eleni Tsami
pp. 121–134

Making Room to Reconceptualise Learning in Business: Educational Technologies and Teaching Spaces

Carolyn Woodley and Theo Papadopoulos
pp. 135–146

Connect or Disconnect: The Influence of Technology-enabled University Support Services on Entrepreneurial Intentions

M J Scheepers and J Hough
pp. 147–159

The Use of Spreadsheet Modelling in the Teaching of Corporate Finance

Carlos Correia and Peter Mayall
pp. 160–177

Session 4: ICT in Teaching Mathematics

Our Next Generation of Robotics Researchers? Teaching Robotics at Primary School Level

Chee Kit Wong, Wai-Kiang Yeap, and Jochen Schmidt
pp. 178–188

Classroom Intervention after Teachers' Pedagogical and Content Knowledge of Statistics through Distance Learning

Efi Paparistodemou, Maria Meletiou-Mavrotheris, and Efstathios Mavrotheris
pp. 189–196

A Study on Effectiveness and Cognitive Load of Secondary Math Teaching Using Dynamic Geometry Software PG_Lab

Shuanyue OuYang, Liming Zhang, and Ngaihong Chan

pp. 197–207

Smash: Online Training in Mathematics and Science Education for Parents

Maria Meletiou-Mavrotheris, Efstathios Mavrotheris, and Efi Paparistodemou

pp. 208–218

Undergraduate Primary Teachers' Learning Styles and Their Use of ICT & National Mathematics Software

Spyros Doukakis, Maria Chionidou-Moskofoglou, and Eleni Mangina-Phelan

pp. 219–233

Session 5: ICT: Teacher Competence and Student Applications

Using Web Blogs as a Tool to Encourage Pre-Class Reading, Post-Class Reflections and Collaboration in Higher Education

Hind Al-Fadda and Maha Al-Yahya

pp. 234–243

Winning Strategies: Technology + Teachers = Transformation

Steve Herbert

pp. 244–255

Introducing Preservice Teachers to Free and Open Source Software: Findings from a Case Study

Ilias Karasavvidis

pp. 256–267

Knowing about ICT in Education: Redefining Digital Competence for Teachers?

J Ola Lindberg

pp. 268–277

Researching the Past to Retool in the Present for Access to the Future

Lisa D. Clark and Raquel Bennett

pp. 278–282

Session 6: Constructivism in Web Cultures

A Study on Development of Digital Content of Human-resource-management Programs at Technical Universities and Collaborative E-Learning Platform under the Principles of Constructivism

Chuan-Yuan Shin, Ruey-Gwo Chung, Yi-Wen Guo, and Ting-Jian Liao

pp. 283–294

Do Students' Former ICT Experiences Influence Patterns of Participation in Online Higher Education? A Case Study on a Swedish Leadership and Coaching Programme
Anders D. Olofsson, Tor Söderström, and Ulf Stödborg
pp. 295–308

The Impact of the Web Culture on Education
Maria Victoria G. Pineda
pp. 309–320

Are Students' Attitudes towards Collaboration Mirrored in Online Education?
Tor Söderström, Anders D. Olofsson, and Ulf Stödborg
pp. 321–329

Towards Active Citizenship Using ICT
Eleni Christopoulou and Dimitrios Ringas
pp. 330–342

Session 7: Wikis and Weblogs for Learning

Whose Space is it Anyway? An Exploratory Study of Students' Use of Myspace.Com for Educational Purposes
M O Thirunarayanan and Pamela Moore
pp. 343–351

ICT Integration in Learning Organisations: Potentials of the 'Intermediate Space' for Virtual Learning Environments Andrew Hall and Claudia Zentgraf
pp. 352–362

The Wiki Factor: How Students Learn to Love Group Work
Charlotte Brack and Marie-Paule Van Damme
pp. 363–376

Implementing E-Portfolios: First Steps — Lessons Learnt
Malcolm Smith and Clare Wolfenden
pp. 377–388

Session 8: Simulations to Enhance Learner Outcome

Learning about Economic Valuation of the Environment Using Online Simulations Tiho Ancev
pp. 389–400

Blending the 'Virtual' and the 'Real' — Using Freeware 3-D Simulation to Enhance Realism in Audio Engineering

Christopher Barlow and Sean Lancaster

pp. 401–412

Using Fictional Characters as Students' Alter Egos in Participatory Design Sessions

George Triantafyllakos, George Palaigeorgiou, and Ioannis A. Tsoukalas

pp. 413–424

The Need for Efficient and Flexible Educational Imagery — When Ambitious Visualization Products Meet the Context of Actual Learning Environments

Maria Spante, Thommy Ericsson, Maria Sunnerstam, Cammy Huang-De Voss, and Michael Axelsson

pp. 425–436

Integrating Gameplay and Learning in Videogames

Kostas Anagnostou and Anastasia Pappa

pp. 437–445

Session 9: Simulations to Enhance Learner Outcome

The Impact of Interactive Communication Tools in Online Learning Communities

Nick Linardopoulos and Kristen Betts

pp. 446–457

Faculty Exchange Periods — Main Obstacles and Possible Solutions from Faculty Viewpoint

Juha Kontio

pp. 458–469

Using Short Message Service (SMS) to Enhance Teaching and Learning

Christine Armatas, Carolyn Woodley, Katie Berman, and Andrew Jago

pp. 470–482

Modern Methods of Learning Text Publication

Jiří Týř

pp. 483–494

Session 10: Facilitating ICT Adoption

Students' Research Self-Efficacy during Online Doctoral Research Courses

Beate Baltes, Peter Hoffman-Kipp, Laura Lynn, Kurt Schoch, and Lisa Weltzer-Ward

pp. 495–504

Collaborative Learning as Peer Review in Online and Distance Education

Monica Liljeström and Agneta Hult

pp. 505–515

The Epistemology War: Wikipedia, Web 2.0, the Academy, and the Battle over the Nature and Authority of Knowledge

Henk Eijkman

pp. 516–529

The Effectiveness of an Interactive Courseware Using Three Different Strategies

Teoh Sian Hoon, Toh Seong Chong, Nor Azilah Ngah and Kor Liew Kee

pp. 530–541

Enhancing Learning and Sociability in Provincial Schools Using Virtual Reality Technologies

Kostas Anagnostou, Konstantinos Chorianopoulos, and Katia L. Kermanidis

pp. 542–551

Session 11: The Uses of Source Material, and The Uses of ICT in English as a Foreign Language (EFL) Courses*ICT Implementation in the Iranian Educational System and its Perception by the EFL Teachers as a Beneficial Technology*

Mehran Ghafoori

pp. 552–564

Developing a Pedagogical Framework for ICT Use in Languages Classrooms

Liam Morgan

pp. 565–576

Who Struggles with Academic Literacy? Challenging Common Assumptions of Which Students Engage in Plagiarism

Marilyn Kell and Robyn Gregson

pp. 577–587

KAIRION: Towards a Technology-based Pedagogy of Source Use Practice

Andreas Karatsolis

pp. 588–598

Session 12: Participation in Learning Communities*Supporting User Participation in Developing Mobile Technology to Help Young People with Autism: The HANDS Smartphone Project*

Cristina Devecchi, Joseph Mintz, and Caty March

pp. 599–611

Designing Integrated Online Exercises for Advanced Second-Language Users of English to Practise Summarising Technical Subject Content

Angela P Cheater

pp. 612–624

Supporting Online Learning Teams Using P2P Technologies

Fatos Xhafa, Santi Caballé, and Leonard Barolli

pp. 625–638

It's All about Video Conferencing — Towards a Sustainable E-Learning Approach in Developing Regions in Bolivia

Ulf Stödberg and Carljohan Orre

pp. 639–650

Session 13: Research Methods in Data Acquisition

Teacher-Student Interactions and Learning Outcomes: Moving from Descriptive to Prescriptive Research

Baruch Offir, Yosef Lev, Orit Zeichner, and Nava Wengrowicz

pp. 651–663

Invariance of an Extended Technology Acceptance Model across Gender and Age Group

Tunku Badariah Tunku Ahmad, Kamal Basha Madarsha, Ahmad Marzuki Zainuddin, Nik Ahmad Hisham Ismail, and M. Sahari Nordin

pp. 664–673

Research on Improving Process Assessment System of Distance Education Based on Data Mining

Yao Jun, Cheng Hua, and Ying Wei Yong

pp. 674–684

Tutoring the Elderly on the Use of Recommending Systems

Anastasios Savvopoulos and Maria Virvou

pp. 685–697

Anywhere and Anytime: Evaluating Students' Behaviors in Science Web- Based Learning Environment Using Log File Analysis

Galit Ben-Zadok, Moshe Leiba, Rafi Nachmias, and Rachel Mintz

pp. 698–711

Session 14: Research into ICT Applications

New Concept in Remote Laboratory: High-speed Multitask System Developed as Online Reconfigurable Platform

Codrin Donciu, Oana Costea, and Marinel Temneanu

pp. 712–718

Research on the Experiment Environment in Distance Engineering Education

Cheng Hua, Ying Wei Yong and Yao Jun

pp. 719–729

Teaching ‘Linux as a Forensic Tool’ (Online) to European Law Enforcement

Paul Stephens

pp. 730–741

Teaching Concepts in Microcontroller Education: CISC vs RISC Assembly-Level Programming

Dimosthenis E. Bolanakis, Konstantinos T. Kotsis, and Theodore Laopoulos

pp. 742–750

Session 15: Developing ICT Competence in Instructors*Reconceptualising Schooling for a Web 2.0 Generation*

Sandy Schuck and Peter Aubusson

pp. 751–762

Computer-assisted Example-based Learning: The Effects of Self-explanation and Instructional Explanation on Transfer Performance

Lai Chee Sern

pp. 763–774

The Snap! Platform: Social Networking for Academic Purposes, Peer Learning, and Communities of Practice

Keith Kirkwood

pp. 775–785

Conceptualising Teacher Professional Learning with Web 2.0 Technologies

Kevin Burden

pp. 786–798

Technological Evolution and Pedagogical Re-Approach to Effective Learning Using Games within the Hellenic Air Force Academy

A. Andreatos and Joanne K. Lekea

pp. 799–811

Session 16: Authorship and Authority of Knowledge*The Telling: Teaching Information Managers about Managing Indigenous (Ecological) Knowledge*

Simon Shurville and Pericles ‘Asher’ Rospigliosi

pp. 812–823

An Appetite for Creative Destruction: Should the Senior Academic Technology Officer be Modelled on the CIO or the CTO?

Simon Shurville and Tom Browne

pp. 824–835

Urban Class Computing in Higher Education: Promising or Perilous

Maria Victoria G. Pineda

pp. 836–846

Why, What, Who, How: Building Up Online Courses. A Report from a Southern Italy University

Bianca Arcangeli, Paolo Diana, Cinzia Massa, and Vincenzo Moretti

pp. 847–857

From Small to Large Hits: Spreading the Online Message to Academic and Administrative Staff via Strategically-targeted Development Activities

Maria Northcote and Gail Huon

pp. 858–869

UFV Graduate Student Paper Prize Finalists

Pedagogies of Using Interactive Whiteboards (IWBS) in Exemplary Teaching in One Higher Education Institution

Claire Mann

pp. 870–881

Rethinking the Conceptualisation of Online Education

Jimmy Jaldemark

pp. 882–896

Combination of Education Technologies for the Enhancement of an Asynchronous System

Michael Giannakos

pp. 897–905